TREASURER ROB McCORD LENDS SUPPORT TO ANTI-HUNGER EXHIBIT

HARRISBURG – Pennsylvania Treasurer Rob McCord today joined U.S. Senator Robert P. Casey, Jr. to welcome the “Witness to Hunger” traveling photography exhibit to the State Capitol. The exhibit is on a statewide tour to raise awareness of Pennsylvania women and children living in poverty.

“It is a terrible tragedy when a child goes hungry in one of the most prosperous nations in the world,” Treasurer McCord said. “This exhibit bravely and honestly displays the humanity behind the hardships faced by so many families across our Commonwealth and challenges us to step up and take action to address these social ills.”

“I applaud these courageous women who share their stories through these photographs, and I will carry these stories of struggle and determination with me as I fight for economic security for all Pennsylvanians,” continued Treasurer McCord.

Treasurer McCord works to leverage the intellectual and organizational capital Treasury has at its disposal to offer concrete solutions that address issues related to women’s economic security. Shortly after taking office, Treasurer McCord kicked off the Treasury Women & Money Project, an umbrella program to support projects and partnerships that contribute to women's success at those stages where they could become economically vulnerable.

Witness to Hunger is a traveling photo exhibit developed by fifty Pennsylvania women who have the courage to share their lives with others in order to make a change for their children and all children living in poverty. The exhibit will be featured in the State Capitol Rotunda January 11 through 22, Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
